ISAIAH 9:2-6

The people walking in darkness have seen a great light;
on those living in the land of the shadow of death
a light has dawned...
For to us a child is born,
to us a Son is given,
and the government will be on his shoulders.
And he will be called
Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God,
Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

Celebrations of Christmas take place all around the world, and each nationality displays its customs in unique ways. America practices leaving milk and cookies for Santa Claus, Dutch boys and girls lay out their wooden shoes to be filled with goodies, and in Germany the Christmas tree finds the most prominent place in the home. From Thanksgiving to the New Year we shop, wrap, party, feast, decorate, send greeting cards, trim trees, bake for the holidays, and more, but do we really stop to celebrate the season?

There are many reasons to celebrate and much to be thankful for. God's blessings on the College and on our alumni have been abundant this year. Cedarville has experienced a record enrollment of students...the Alumni Association has increased by 400...the engineering/nursing facility is targeted for completion during the summer of 1992...and the support of faithful alumni and friends is strong.

Personal blessings are abundant also. The news we receive from alumni as to how God is working in their lives is overwhelming. Needs for employment are being met...physical difficulties open doors for testimony...healthy children are born...and alumni are having an impact for Christ on the world around them.

Accept the challenge to celebrate the season of Christmas. Create a tradition that reflects Christ's birth. Take time to stop from the hustle and bustle of life and read the prophecy of His arrival on earth in Isaiah. Marvel at the miracle of His coming. "Unto us a child is born!" Not just any child, but our Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, and Prince of Peace!

Celebrate With Cedarville

Jeremiah Teaches Worship

The annual Fall Bible Conference, featuring Dr. David Jeremiah, kicked off the 1991-92 school year. Dr. Jeremiah brought a series of messages on worshipping God which inspired the student body, faculty, and staff not to overlook this important activity of the Christian life. The week intertwined music, scripture, prayer, and stories of the Jeremiah household when Dave was a young boy.

Cedarville Continues Growth

Cedarville College enjoyed a fall enrollment of 2,046 students, the largest in its 104-year history. The enrollment represents an increase of 73% since 1978, the first year of Dr. Paul Dixon's tenure as president. Cedarville students come from 45 states and 15 foreign countries.

The incoming 535 freshmen include a record number of top scholars. The average freshman scored in the top 25 percent of college-bound students on college entrance exams. Sixty-one scored in the top two percent of the nation, qualifying them as President's Scholars. Seven were finalists and three were semi-finalists in the National Merit or National Achievement programs.

Cedarville has expanded facilities and added faculty to accommodate the increasing student population. When the $7 million Engineering/Nursing Center is completed next fall, 95% of the College's classrooms will have been built or refurbished in the last ten years.

"Twentysomething"

Left back...All ahead...Protect your bucket...Belay on...Belay off... "Lift your feet, Bill!" ... "What is your gift?" ...G.I.T.K.

This fall a group of 26 from Cedarville College, including 3 staff and 23 students, headed for the hills of West Virginia. Their mission was not only to make the transition from varied summer experiences back to a Cedarville College mind-set, but also to come together as a team. This team, "Twentysomething," would then provide direction for small group leaders and new students during Getting Started '91, the orientation program for new students and their parents.

The white water rafting, rappelling, camp fires, van rides, and eating together all became vehicles to draw the team together. The experiences shared made memories for a lifetime. These memories, now triggered by the words and phrases above, may have little meaning without the context of being there. But if you were there, "Give It The Kutasch" or "G.I.T.K." had special meaning as you went "over the edge."

Engineering/Nursing Center Update

Contractors plan to have the new Engineering/Nursing Center under roof, bricked, with glass installed by December 1. Completion date is August 1, 1992. We thank God for the $3.7 million already committed to the project and look toward the goal of having $4.7 million committed by January 1992.

The building will provide general education and additional science classrooms as well as service the Engineering and Nursing Departments.

Dr. Rex Rogers '74, the 1991 Alumnus of the Year recipient, was recognized for his significant contribution to and support of education. Rex served on the faculty of Cedarville College and was named vice president of academic affairs at The King's College, New York in 1988. On August 6, 1991, Grand Rapids Baptist College and Seminary announced the appointment of Dr. Rogers as president.

Dr. Dwayne Frank '60 received the Distinguished Service Award for 1991. Dr. Frank has served for 23 years in the Education Department at Cedarville College. His work with teaching English programs in mainland China helped open the way for alumni and students to travel and to teach in that country. Dr. Frank is currently negotiating a similar program with the governments of Yugoslavia and Romania.

Dr. Gerald Smelser was named Honorary Alumnus of the Year. He served 10 years with Baptist Bible Institute before it acquired Cedarville College. From 1951 until 1991 he was a member of Cedarville's board of trustees. Dr. Smelser's 50 years of service earned him the title of Trustee Emeritus.

Presenting Your Alumni Council

November 8 marked Grandparents Day at Cedarville College. Students and their grandparents enjoyed a day of chapel, activities, classes, and dining. Robbie (Williams '39) Prine has two grandsons at the College. Kevin Fath is a freshman. His brother Kelly '91 is the college representative for the Admissions Office. Their parents, Rev. and Mrs. David K. Fath are members of the Parents Council. Pictured left to right are: Mrs. Prine, Kevin Fath, Mrs. Fath, Rev. Fath, Kelly Fath, and Mr. Prine.

Celebrate Homecoming

The annual alumni soccer game ended in a 1-1 tie as many returned as participants and spectators.

Dan Bergen '74N, provided special music.

ALUMNI HOMECOMING CHAPEL

Nine hundred plus alumni returned for Homecoming and attended the Saturday chapel service planned just for them. During the 11 o'clock hour, alumni enjoyed special music by Dan Bergen '74N, heard a message by Dr. Dixon, sang "Christ is All I Need," and prayed with "PG." The Alumni Awards were presented at this time, also. Thanks to all who attended, this will become a regular part of Homecoming Weekend.

Dr. Dixon challenged those attending the Alumni Chapel to recognize the blessings and the responsibility of the Christian life.

John McGillivray '70 and Jane (Romig '88) Brooker were inducted into the Cedarville College Athletic Hall of Fame during the Homecoming festivities.

Kelly Scott, senior communication arts major, was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Dr. David Matson was grand marshal of the parade.

The annual Homecoming 5K Road Run started and finished on the new polyurethane track. Ben Weiss '87, Cliff Roop '91, and Tim Walters '87 organized the run of 22 participants. Robert Moore and Victoria Johnson ran the best times in the men's and women's categories.

ALUMNI WEEK CHAPEL HIGHLIGHTS

The tradition of inviting alumni back to participate in chapel during the week before Homecoming continues this year. Many dynamic speakers and musicians representing a variety of years and disciplines urged the students to continue the quest of education as life-long learners with dedication to God. Through their music and messages, our returning alumni shared ups and downs of college life, memories of life-changing proportion, and after-college experiences.

Alumni who support and who have taken part in MIS experiences gathered for their second annual breakfast. Besides sharing stories of their trips, the group prays for those students who will go out next summer.

Rev. James Carrington '77 shared his ministry in the Milwaukee inner-city with the students.

Mindy (Jackson '84) Norman is currently raising a family in Valparaiso, Indiana and continues her musical ministry with several area churches.

Bob Foreman '77 teaches English at Pasadena Community College in California. Bob is a newly-elected Alumni Council representative.

Dr. Rex Rogers '74 challenged the students to a life of learning. The president of Grand Rapids Baptist College and Seminary is dedicated to education.

Jennifer (Stephens '88) Behm is presently employed in the Human Resources Department of GRACO Corporation in eastern Pennsylvania.

Douglas J. Miller '85 has assumed the duties of director of public relations at Cedarville College. Doug will oversee the production of the Cedarville TORCH magazine and other College publications. He also will be the primary contact person for all media relations.

A history major at Cedarville, Doug earned a master's degree in sociology at the University of Arizona. He held administrative positions at Shepherds Baptist Ministries in Union Grove, Wisconsin before returning to the College. He and his wife Chrissy (Friedkin '88) live in Springfield where she is a substitute elementary teacher.

James D. Engelmann '66 is the new manager of manufacturing plants for AC Rochester Division's Fuel Handling and Control Business Unit. He is responsible for the business unit's worldwide manufacturing activities, including two plants in Flint, Michigan. Jim is a former chairman of the Alumni Council. He and his wife, Judy (Spear '67), previously lived in Grand Island, New York.

Celebrate Home

"I hope I recognize heaven when I get there," states Eleanor Taylor '62. That's how the resident director of Willetts Hall describes how much she enjoys life at Cedarville. Eleanor came to the College in 1958 to study English after working in an office for ten years. As a student, she was involved in choir, the yearbook staff, CEDARS, and intramurals. Her Christian service included ministry to nursing homes and the Springfield jail.

The buildings on campus remind Eleanor of the people she has known. One of her best memories is that Dr. Lawlor, Dr. Williams, and Dr. James T. Jeremiah knew her by her first name. She remembers a real sense of family on the campus of a little over 200 students in the early sixties.

After graduation, she returned to her home in Cleveland, Ohio to work at the Baptist Mid-Missions home office for two-and-a-half years. The Lord provided a way for her to attend Western Reserve University where she earned her teaching certificate. From there she went to teach at Baptist Christian School in Cleveland for 19 years.

Eleanor credits God for returning her to Cedarville College. She realized she needed a change, and in 1986 she received a call concerning a one-year teaching position. Eleanor was glad to fill the position, but after her year ended she did not want to leave. At that point God opened the door for her to become the resident director of Willetts Hall. She says her job is the most wonderful in the world.

In addition to her position as R.D., Eleanor is a loyal Cleveland Browns fan, leads a Bible study for the women's tennis team, filled a four-year term on the Alumni Council, and enjoys reading and doing brain-teaser puzzles. One of her great joys was an MIS experience in England in 1990. For recreation, Eleanor plays racquetball three times a week and participates in volksmarches about six times a year. The marches are 10K or 6.2 miles, noncompetitive, and are walked at one's own leisure. She has been to Xenia, Springfield, Clifton, and Cincinnati to participate in the volksmarches.

Eleanor is an inspiration. Whether she is promoting the Browns, hosting a dinner for students, or working on a subcommittee, Eleanor is teaching others to celebrate living for God. She says, "His bringing me back to Cedarville was wonderful because it's such a great place!"

Chris Parsons '87, executive director of the Good Samaritan Project (GSP), works closely with individuals testing HIV positive. The Good Samaritan Project in Atlanta, Georgia operates under a threefold mission statement: to minister to the spiritual needs of HIV positive people and introduce them to Jesus Christ; to minister to their physical needs; to educate churches, youth groups, high school students, and others about AIDS and develop a Christian response toward those infected with AIDS.

Chris feels GSP's mission statement serves a need that others neglect. "Many times the basics are overlooked, such as rides to the doctor, occasional money for groceries, or help with cleaning their homes," states Parsons. Chris has worked with GSP for two-and-a-half years and has developed a strong volunteer corps to provide assistance to those with AIDS.

Chris majored in Bible at Cedarville, worked with autistic children, and involved himself in campus evangelism. In 1986, he took a new focus. His goals and aspirations were to prepare himself to minister to the spiritual and physical needs of people with AIDS.

Chris does not feel at risk. Understanding how AIDS is transmitted enables him to work without inhibition with HIV positive people. "It is a fact," he says, "that you can't 'catch' AIDS through casual contact."

Chris believes he encounters second-hand discrimination because of his ministry. People do not express themselves verbally, but rather through their actions. Chris has been denied service because people know that GSP works with AIDS individuals.

When asked how he deals with the issue of death in the AIDS community, Chris relates that in his youth and young adulthood he dealt with the deaths of several people close to him. When he was 13, 15, and again at 25, he lost three of his closest friends to tragedies. Adding to these losses, both sets of grandparents also passed away. As a result, Chris believes that God prepared him to deal with death and sorrow. In 1990 alone, GSP lost thirty of the one hundred individuals affected by the ministry. Chris reflects that had he not faced the deaths of those close to him, these deaths would have devastated him.

Chris' current vision for GSP is to provide housing where those with AIDS can live—and die—while being tenderly cared for and loved.

Celebrate Friendship

Cedarville College T-shirts and sweatshirts create instant friendships all around the world. Usually, the first comment generated by an article of clothing from the College bookstore is, "Where is Cedarville?" But, when alumni meet in a distant place, the College name on a shirt helps recall stories and memories to share.

Cedarville T-shirts sometimes win friends for the College in youngsters who later become students. Kimberly and Tiffany Trimble lived in Brazil with their missionary parents, Mark '67 and Beth (Ziegler '68) Trimble, when a family friend and then bookstore manager, Bernice Mick '55, sent them Cedarville T-shirts. The picture accompanying this article was taken in 1974 when Kim and Tiffany were ages four and two, respectively.

Kimberly, now in her last year at Cedarville College, is majoring in elementary education. She recently stated her desire to return to Brazil as a teacher/missionary. Tiffany began her freshman year at Cedarville in the fall and is interested in nursing. Kim and Tiffany recently received scholarships from the MK Loan/Grant Fund established in 1984. The girls count these scholarships answers to prayer since they are financing their college education through several loans.

Besides Kim and Tiffany, the Trimbles have three other daughters: Melany is 15 and an honor student, Emily is 12, and Amey is 11.

Mark and Beth Trimble have completed their twentieth year as missionaries to Brazil with Baptist Mid-Missions. Their home is in the city of Belem, at the mouth of the Amazon River. There they have built a ministry with the Belem Baptist Seminary and Good News Baptist Church. Mark teaches and is on the board of directors for the seminary. Through their work at Good News Baptist Church, the Trimbles have begun outreach to the community of Belem.

Michael Card's concert on October 31 was part of his nationwide "The Way of Wisdom" tour. Michael played guitar, piano, dulcimer, and mandolin for a near-capacity crowd in the Chapel. He was joined by Danny O'Lannerghty on bass and Scott Brasher on keyboards.

Reminions

The class of 1966 celebrated their 25-year reunion in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Dixon. They enjoyed a delicious breakfast and a time of reminiscing.

The class of 1976 gathered for a time of food, fun, and fellowship. Kurt Moreland chats with friends.

The Class of 1986 enjoyed a double-decker bus ride in the parade, a great luncheon, and autographing the class sign. Approximately 150 classmates and friends returned for the occasion.

Mark Horne and Jim Leibler were together again for the five-year reunion of the Class of 1986. Their comedy routine brought back great memories of Cedarville days. Horne and Leibler are employed with Opex Corporation in Moorestown, New Jersey.

The BBI years sponsored a Homecoming reunion with 19 in attendance.

The class of 1961 enjoyed dining in the PDR for their 30-year reunion.

Randy Patton '71 led the class in their 20-year reunion. Minutes of the class reunion were kept and an update on those who attended will be sent to the classmates who couldn't make it to Homecoming.

Ruby Jeremiah Servant of the Lord

Ruby Lathrop Jeremiah
1915-1991

"I love the Lord, because He hath heard my voice and my supplications. Because He hath inclined His ear unto me, therefore will I call upon Him as long as I live" (Psalm 116:1-2). Ruby Lathrop Jeremiah claimed this scripture as her life verse.

The wife of Dr. James T. Jeremiah for almost 55 years, she was his helpmate as he served in the pastorate, as the president of Cedarville College, and later as chancellor of the College. She was mother to their four children and grandmother to 13.

When Cedarville College was small and struggling, Mrs. Jeremiah served in many capacities: she operated the post office and the print shop; she prepared faculty-staff dinners and served them in her garage; she started a student wives' fellowship and a Women's Auxiliary; she organized efforts to provide things like lounge furniture, mattress pads, stage curtains, and an organ for the chapel. As she accompanied her husband on his Holy Land tours, she faithfully chronicled the thousands of pictures he shot for presentations and classes.

In a letter to friends, Dr. Jeremiah said, Ruby always had a personal interest in the...college young people.... Because of this concern the Women's Fellowship of the college established the Ruby Jeremiah Scholarship Fund. Money from this fund is awarded annually to Cedarville College women who qualify. We encourage our friends to continue supporting this fund with their prayers and gifts.

Heritage Alumni Travel

Our Heritage Alumni are always on the move! This summer two trips were planned for Cedarville College alumni who attended the College in its earlier years. On August 8, the group enjoyed a tour of the Longaberger basket factory in Dresden, Ohio along with lunch in the Longaberger Restaurant. Our Heritage travelers took a ride on the paddleboat Lorna during the afternoon. On September 12, they were off again, this time to Cincinnati for a day with the Reds. Before the game, they enjoyed lunch at Mike Fink River Boat Restaurant.

ATTENTION, BASKETBALL FANATICS!! Make plans now to attend ALUMNI BASKETBALL WEEKEND—JANUARY 24–25, 1992. The weekend will include a Dayton Philharmonic concert on Friday evening, alumni basketball games Saturday afternoon, the Yellow Jackets game with Ohio Dominican on Saturday evening ($1.00-off tickets for alumni and their immediate families!), alumni pep band, a halftime free throw contest, alumni reception, and much more. So fans, get ready to cheer! For more information and to register for this event call the Alumni Office at 1-800-837-2566.

The Undergraduate Alumni Association (UAA), is a newly formed organization whose primary purpose is to assist the Alumni Association during Homecoming Weekend, Alumni Weekend, and Cedar Day/Parents Weekend. The 13 members who are currently junior or senior students at the College represent the student body through the Alumni Council. The students have the unique opportunity to gain knowledge of the Alumni Association by networking with alumni.
